

NATURE PLAY & LEARNING

Reconnecting Children with Nature

“IF WE WANT CHILDREN TO FLOURISH, TO BECOME TRULY EMPOWERED, THEN LET US ALLOW THEM TO LOVE THE EARTH
BEFORE WE ASK THEM TO SAVE IT.”

David Sobel

THE DILEMMA OF CITY KIDS

The city life is colored by a modernity that detaches a child from nature. From toddlers to teenagers, children now spend most of their time indoors with gadgets as companions.

Children are also becoming accustomed to the consumptive urban lifestyle - seeking instant gratification and always in need to own more.

This lifestyle does not allow children to appreciate the process behind their consumption habits and its consequences. How long did it take for their food to grow? Who grew them? When they throw things away, where does it all go?

KNOWING VS REALIZING

Children are becoming familiar with the ecological issues our world faces early on – climate change, deforestation, plastic pollution and many more.

How can we ensure that this knowledge translate into empathy and action?

How can we help them realize that they too are part of the solution?

LEARNING NATURALLY

Being exposed to living ecosystems with plants and animals allows children to appreciate the interconnectedness of life.

It is time we give children the platform to learn from with the wisest teacher of all – Mother Nature herself.
